Nassau Free Library Welcomes New Director:

The Board of Trustees for the Nassau Free Library is pleased to announce the appointment of Laurenne Teachout as Director of the Nassau Free Library. Laurenne is currently the Director of the Stephentown Memorial Library and will continue in that position as well. Ms. Teachout will assume her duties on August 3, 2015.

Ms. Teachout received her B.A. in English from Mary Washington College (now University of Mary Washington) and her M.S.L.S. from Clarion University of Pennsylvania. She is well known throughout the community for ensuring that Stephentown Memorial Library is a welcoming, helpful resource, stocked with great books and media and a constant source of important programming for all ages. In addition to her work at the library, Ms. Teachout is a volunteer at the Stephentown Food Pantry and a member of College Club in Pittsfield, MA. She is an avid reader, thrift store shopper, and enjoys attending local theater, museums, and concerts. She has made her home in Stephentown for 16 years with her husband Vince, her daughter Max, and their cats Spike, Angel, and Buffy. Ms. Teachout can be contacted at director@nassaufreelibrary.org. Ms. Teachout welcomes input from the community.
